

ABA: 69116697

VA/VL

An axial brain scan image showing blue activation clusters. The image is divided into four quadrants by a vertical and a horizontal white line. The activation is most prominent in the left hemisphere (viewer's left) and the posterior region. There are several distinct blue spots of varying intensity, with the largest one in the lower-left quadrant. The rest of the brain area shown is mostly dark, indicating no significant activation.