

ABA:72128751

VMH

A coronal brain scan image showing a blue highlighted region in the ventral medial hypothalamus (VMH). The image is split vertically by a white line, with the left side showing the brain and the right side showing a black background. The blue region is located in the upper part of the brain, with a curved shape. A horizontal white line is also present across the middle of the image.