

ABA: 74988460

M

The image displays two side-by-side coronal brain MRI slices. Both slices show a similar pattern of signal intensity, with a prominent focal area of hyperintensity (brighter) located in the left hemisphere, likely within the white matter. The surrounding brain tissue appears relatively normal. A vertical line separates the two slices, and a horizontal line is visible across the middle of the image.